The Office of Planning and Economic Development's mission is to provide community planning services and to manage programs that fulfill the immediate physical, economic and environmental needs of the city. The Office also assists in the development of the City's long-term vision for physical, environmental, economic and community development

The Office consists of the Department of Economic Development and the Planning Department, as well as staffs the Planning Board, Redevelopment Authority, Holyoke Economic Development and Industrial Corporation, and the Board of Appeals.

With all of these services under one roof, the Office of Planning and Development is well equipped to assist you in your development needs from subdividing your lot to relocating your business to the City of Holyoke. The Planning Department administers the City's Zoning Ordinance and Subdivision Regulations which includes the oversight of Site Plan Review.

The Economic Development Office is available for aiding in locating potential incentives for businesses expanding within the City as well as those interested in moving their business to Holyoke. The Office can also assist you in your site selection.
